Annual Safety Conference 2015

Managing Occupational Health in the Workplaces

The fourth IOSH Hong Kong Annual Safety Conference and 15th AGM and Annual Dinner will be held at the Salisbury - YMCA of Hong Kong. The theme of the Annual Safety Conference 2015 is 'Managing Occupational Health in the Workplaces'. The Conference will showcase good practices and ideas on tackling occupational health issues in workplaces, and provide a platform for both local and overseas professionals to exchange ideas and share their experiences of improving occupational health standards in various sectors.

Occupational health is defined as the promotion and maintenance of the highest degree of physical, mental and social well-being of workers in all occupations by preventing departures from health, controlling risks and the adaptation of work to people, and people to their jobs. Studies and researches on occupational health reflect that the repercussions of occupational illnesses pose severe after-effect, threatening the daily life of the victims and increasing burden of the public health care system. However, the issues in relation to occupational health are very often disregarded by both the employer and employee as the instant effect of occupational health is insignificant.

Who should attend?

The conference will be relevant to executives, professionals and managerial staff, particularly health and safety professionals and those with responsibility for health and safety at work.

Why should you attend?

The conference will provide an important forum for the meaningful exchange of good practices and ideas on tackling occupational health issues in workplaces and an excellent opportunity to share ideas, network with colleagues, make new contacts and learn from others in the industry.

IOSH members are invited to attend the Annual General Meeting of Hong Kong Branch immediately after the conference to hear about the branch's priorities and plans for the year ahead, and to see the new branch committee voted in. In the evening, join us with our honourable guests, speakers, government officials, branch committee members, other delegates at the annual dinner, taking place at the same venue. Enrolment for the dinner can be made separately.
